

An abstract painting featuring a thick, wavy, red line that resembles a river or a path, set against a dark, textured black background. The red line is composed of multiple layers of paint, with some areas appearing more saturated and others more translucent, revealing underlying black and white tones. The overall effect is one of depth and movement.

Jiří Páv
Temná řeka
galerie UKG Slivenec - 1.února 2017 v 19:00h